

CURRICULUM VITAE: JOHN BREUILLY
BIOGRAPHICAL DETAILS
2004	Professor of Nationalism and Ethnicity, London School of Economics
2001/2	Fellow, Wissenschaftskolleg zu Berlin
1995 -	Professor of Modern History, University of Birmingham
1995	Professor of History, University of Manchester
1993	Reader in History, University of Manchester
1992/3	Visiting Professor, Universität Bielefeld
1987/8	Visiting Professor, Universität Hamburg
1985	Senior Lecturer, University of Manchester
1984	Elected Fellow of the Royal Historical Society
1979	D.Phil (York University)
1972	Lecturer in History, University of Manchester
1968-72	Research student, universities of York and Hamburg
1965-68	BA (History/Politics) at University of York; graduated with first class honours
RESEARCH AWARDS (GRANTS AND POSTS)
Estimated total value	I estimate total research funding to me, either individually or with colleagues, in the form of direct grants (for travel, research leave, research assistants), publication grants, fellowships, visiting professorships, to amount to some £400,000 between 1985 and 2005. This excludes sabbatical leave. In what follows I exclude small grants of under £2000.
2002	British Academy grant £2890 (research in Hamburg)
2001/2	Fellowship at Wissenschaftskolleg zu Berlin (The college paid £30,000 to Birmingham University to finance a one-year lectureship replacement.)
1999	AHRB grant of £155,000 (with other colleagues in Modern History, German Studies and Institute for German Studies) for project comparing the two German unifications
1995/6	British Academy Research Leave (matched by Birmingham University to make up to full session) for comparative urban cultural history project
1991/2	Nuffield Foundation grant to finance one term's research leave for comparative urban cultural history project. (Two colleagues also given equivalent grants.)
1995	Grants totalling £4000 from Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft , Scouloudi Foundation and Barry Amiel & Norman Blackburn Trust to help cover publication costs of The Era of the Reform League
1990/91	Senior Leverhulme Research Fellowship for research on the artisans of 19 th century Hamburg
1989-92	British Academy awards (jointly to myself and two colleagues) totalling £40,000 to employ research assistants on urban cultural history project

1986-89	Grants from Manchester University Research Fund to employ a research assistant for work on 19 th century Hamburg census material. In the 1980s I also received grants from the British Academy and the Nuffield Foundation to assist related research on Hamburg social history
	TEACHING
	UNDERGRADUATE TEACHING
	I do not include details of my teaching before coming to Birmingham. I list the main teaching duties since 1996. In addition I was centrally involved in the redesign of the History Honours syllabus. The new syllabus has been phased in since 1998
	LONDON SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS
	Lectures in courses on Nationalism, Introduction to Comparative Politics, and State-Nation-Empire.
	BIRMINGHAM UNIVERSITY
Level 1	Lecturing and classes in Historical Focus
	Case study course (using computer learning package I wrote) in Research Seminar
Level 2	Group Research: Project on Birmingham and Midland Institute
	Optional Unit: Nationalism and the unification of Germany
	Comparative Themes: The making of nations
	Historical Perspectives: Nationalism in modern Germany (using web-based material)
Level 3	Special Subject: Urban Elites in the Golden Age of Liberalism
	I also supervise level 2/3 Reading and Reviewing assignments and level 3 dissertations.
	POSTGRADUATE TEACHING
	LONDON SCHOOL OF ECONOMICS
	Lectures and seminars in the core course in the MSc in Nationalism and Ethnicity. A course on Max Weber and Nationalism. I currently supervise three doctoral students.
	BIRMINGHAM UNIVERSITY
1996-2001	As Director of Postgraduate Studies for History I designed a number of M.Phil (B) courses which include a core course with a common element for all M.Phil students, medieval and modern, in the first semester. This forms the core of our initial postgraduate recruitment.
1996-2002	I have supervised or co-supervised three Ph.D students to successful completion as well as a number of M.Phil and MA dissertations. I continue to supervise one doctoral student..

1996ff	On an alternating basis I taught the M.Phil(B) core course, 'Historical Methods'.
1996ff	On an alternating basis I taught the specific core course on the M.Phil in Modern European History (also for students in the MA in European Studies) on 'State formation and nationalism in modern Europe'
	UNIVERSITY ADMINISTRATION
	MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY
	Apart from a range of departmental responsibilities, including Chair of History, I took the lead in establishing a policy and planning committee for the Faculty of Arts and setting up the Faculty Graduate School, served on Senate, the Standing Committee of Senate, and the University Research Committee. I served on a range of appointments committees for lectureships and Chairs and on the committee that recommended the appointment of Martin Harris as Vice-Chancellor. I played the lead role in drafting the History RAE 1992 submission.
	BIRMINGHAM UNIVERSITY
2003	Acting Head of Department of Modern History
2002-	Research Coordinator for the School of Historical Studies
2002-3	Director of Postgraduate Studies in History
2000/1	I drafted the History RAE 2001 submission. I also sat on the School, Faculty and University committees overseeing the RAE exercise.
1998	Member of University Research Facilitation Sub-Group
1997-2001	Member of the University Research and Taught Postgraduate Committees
1997-2001	Head of the Department of Modern History (in August 1997 the original Department of Modern History merged with the former Department of Economic and Social History)
1997-2001	Director of Postgraduate Studies in History; Research Coordinator for History
1997-99	Chair of the Postgraduate Group for the School of Historical Studies
1997-	Associate Fellow, Centre for Russian and East European Studies
1997-	Professorial Fellow, Institute for German Studies
	PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES
	CURRENT EDITORIAL RESPONSIBILITIES
	One of three editors of the Macmillan/Palgrave series Studies in European History since its establishment. Some thirty books published to date.
	One of four editors of Macmillan/Palgrave series European Studies . Some fifteen books published to date.

	I am on the editorial boards of German History and Nations and Nationalism
	EXTERNAL EXAMINING AND ASSESSMENTS
	External examiner for some ten doctoral dissertations.
2006-	External examiner for MA in European History at Cambridge University
2001	External assessor for Chair in Modern History at Southampton University
2000	External assessor for Readership in History at Strathclyde University
1996-99	External examiner for MA in Modern European History since 1850 (Warwick University)
1994	External assessor for Open University course A321: State, Economy and Nation in Nineteenth Century Europe
1993-98	External examiner for MA in European Labour History (University of London)
1989-91	External examiner for history component of Degree in Humanities at Bolton Institute of Higher Education
	PROFESSIONAL SOCIETIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES
2004-	Vice-President, Association for the Study of Ethnicity and Nationalism
2004-	On Board of Centre for Research into Nationalism, Ethnicity and Multiculturalism
2004	I provided an evaluation of the Nationalism Programme at the Central European University at Budapest to the university administration
2003-	Member of AHRC Peer Review Panel for History
2002-5	Member of jury for “Das historische Buch 2001”
1999-2002	Chair of the German History Society
1996-2003	Representative of Royal Historical Society on the Steering Committee of the British Centre for Historical Research in Germany
1998-2001	Member of AHRB History Postgraduate Studentship Panel