

World Poverty and the Duty of Assistance

Forum for European Philosophy Conference
London School of Economics

Tuesday 27 June 2006 9.30am - 6.15pm
Old Theatre, Old Building, Houghton St, London, WC2A

in cooperation with the Department of Philosophy, Logic and Scientific Method at the LSE, UNESCO and the Institute of Philosophy at the School of Advanced Study

A one-day conference bringing together philosophers, social scientists, and development practitioners to discuss our duties towards those who are in need.

9.30 Prof. Jonathan Glover (KCL):
Poverty, Distance and Two Dimensions of Ethics

10.30 Break

11.00 Dr. Linda Yueh (Oxford and LSE):
Economic growth and poverty reduction in China
Prof. Jan Breman (Amsterdam):
Looking at poverty in a village in India for half a century

13.00 Lunch Break

14.00 Prof. Paul Collier (Oxford and formerly of the World Bank): Beyond the role of victim: how we can best help Africa

Dr. Ekwow Spio-Garbrah (CEO of CTO and formerly Minister in Ghanaian government) responds

16.00 Break

16.30 Prof. David Miller (Oxford): Who is responsible for global poverty? Mr. David Mepham (IPPR and formerly of DFID) responds

18.00 Prof. Leif Wenar (Sheffield) Concluding remarks

Admission free, open to all, no registration required Details at: www.philosophy-forum.org/Povertyconference.htm
Further information from Catherine Lowe Tel: 020 7955 7539 Email: C.Lowe@lse.ac.uk

World Poverty and the Duty of Assistance

Forum for European Philosophy Conference

Tuesday 27 June 2006

9.30am - 6.15pm

London School of Economics
Old Theatre, Old Building,
Houghton Street, London, WC2A

Free event

www.philosophy-forum.org